

Left — AMERICA'S "BIG FOUR" at the Arms Limitation Conference. The quartet of legal spokesmen, who are America's delegates at the vitally important sessions in Washington, are from left to right Elihu Root, who represents the public; Senator Lodge, majority leader of the Senate; Secretary of State Hughes, who represents the Administration and is presiding chairman of the conference; and Senator Underwood, minority leader of the Senate.

Wide World

Right — A JAPANESE TRIBUTE TO WOMAN SUFFRAGE. Madam Kaji Yajima, ninety years of age, and for forty years champion of the rights of Japanese women, who last week presented President Harding with a peace petition 100 yards long and signed by 10,000 Japanese women, is pictured placing a wreath on the suffrage statue in the Capitol. Mrs. Richard Wainwright stands at the left and Mrs. Adelaide Johnson, sculptress of the statue, at the right.

H. & F. from Paul Thompson

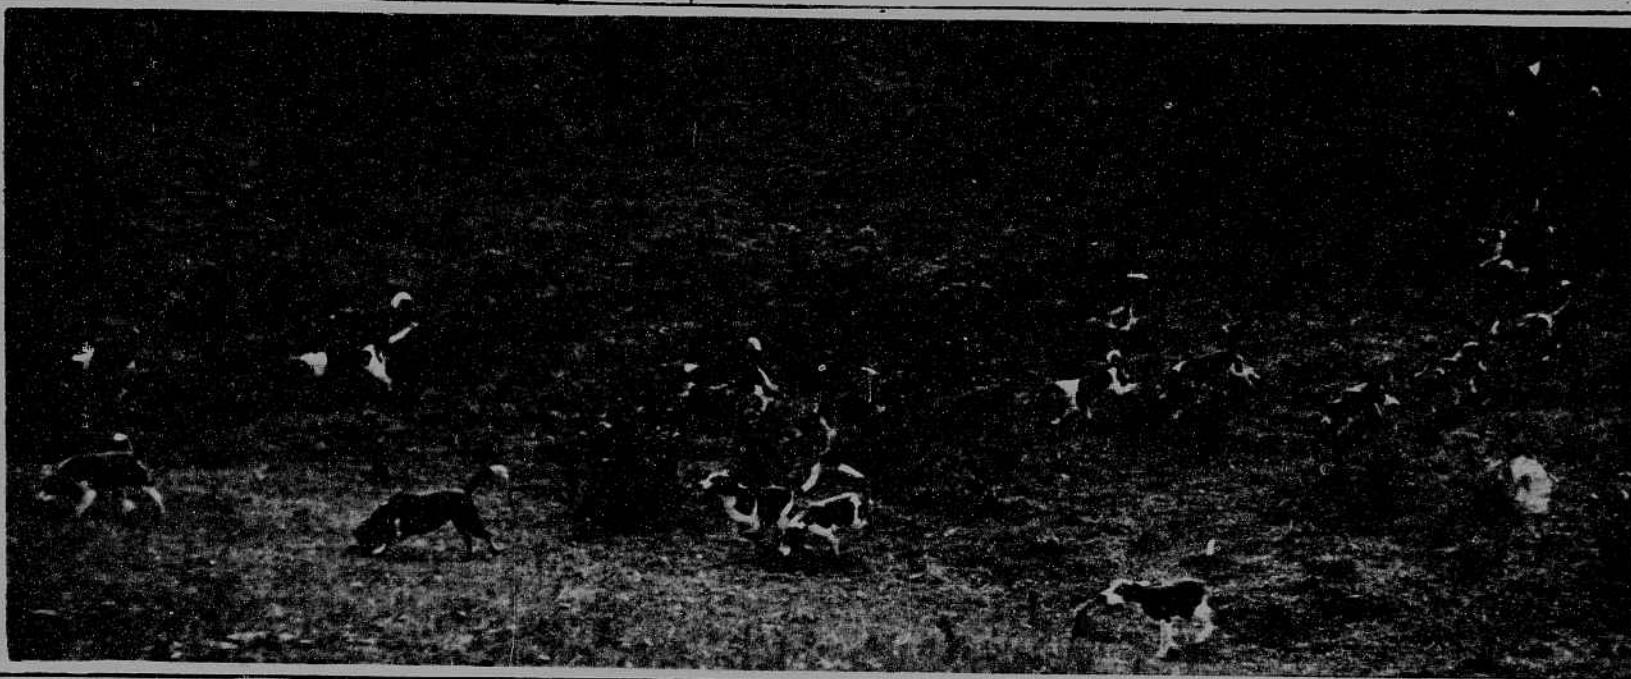

A DIPLOMATIC DUO. The Rt. Hon. Arthur James Balfour, former British Premier and leader of England's delegates to the Washington Conference, is met by Secretary of State Hughes on his arrival at the Capital. "This is the world's desire," said Mr. Balfour.

Underwood

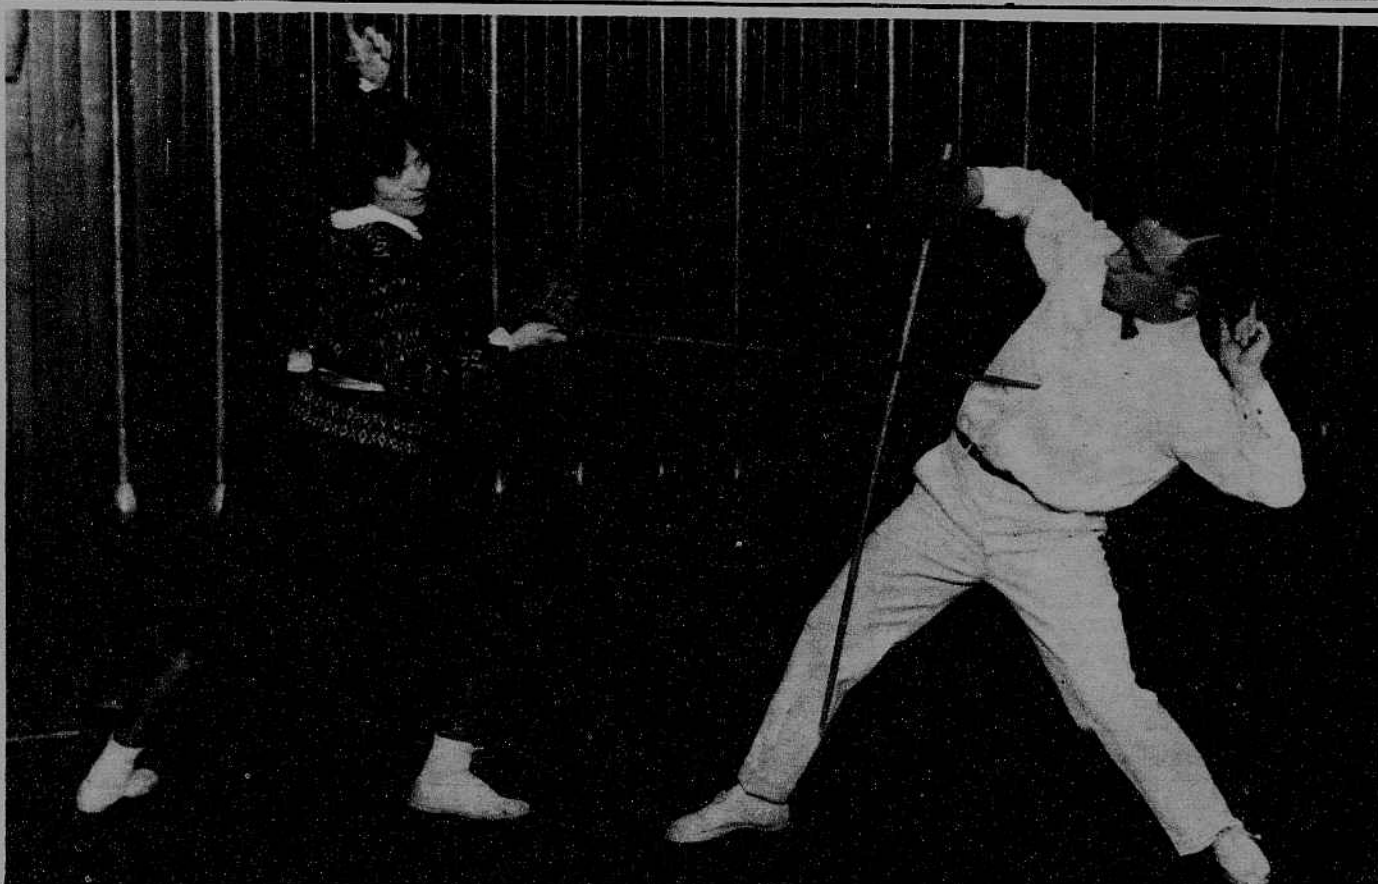

Right — TROUBLED WITH WILD HOGS? That is outside of the subway. If so, here's a suggestion from far off Ceylon, showing how the natives scare the wild porkers away from the rice fields. The bamboo tube is hollow but half way through. When the upper end fills with water, it tilts and spills, letting the other end fall back upon a stone, making a hollow sound like a tom-tom. This keeps up incessantly day and night and serves as a most effective "scare-crow."

Galloway

HOT ON THE SCENT. Mr. E. W. Clucas has difficulty in keeping up with his splendid dozen and a half White-oakes beagles pictured in full cry after Peter Rabbit out Bedminster way over in New Jersey—a sport that is fast increasing in popularity hereabouts.

Levick

Left — SOCIETY TAKES UP FENCING. Every morning at Durland's Riding Academy many of New York's most prominent women may be seen keeping themselves physically fit for the strenuous activities of the social season by indulging in some form of athletic endeavor. Fencing seems to be the favorite exercise and here is Mrs. Edgar Leslie scoring a point in this "manly" art on her instructor.

Wide World

Left — CARUSO'S BROTHER, Giovanni, arrives in New York from Italy aboard the S. S. Dante Allegieri to assist in the settlement of the great tenor's estate. Note the striking resemblance between Giovanni and the late Enrico.

Wide World

Right — SOME FAMILY REUNION! Mr. John I. Kipp (center), of Deer Valley, California, is honored on his ninetieth birthday, by the gathering at his simple home of 78 of his direct descendants. And what a party it must have been with five generations celebrating all at once!

Keystone

